

Membership Benefits

The International Flame Research Foundation is a research and networking hub for the global combustion and energy community. Originating at IJmuiden, the Netherlands in 1948, IFRF now serves an established and growing worldwide network of combustion or energy oriented industrial and academic organisations.

These include the full spectrum of:

- End-users, designers and suppliers of fired heating equipment
- Process and system engineers and consultants
- Energy suppliers
- R&D/technology developers
- Universities and research institutes
- Trade associations
- Energy policy makers

Since 2007, IFRF has been headquartered in Livorno, Italy, adjacent to the experimental facilities of European utility giant Enel.

Association with IFRF is via a membership structure which accommodates organisations as well as independent individuals. Depending on their geographic location, members will access IFRF either through the Associate Member Group, managed at our head office in Livorno, Italy, or as an affiliate of one of our eight IFRF National Committees:

- ▶ American Flame
- ▶ British Flame
- ▶ Finnish Flame
- ▶ French Flame
- ▶ German Flame
- ▶ Italian Flame
- ▶ Netherlands Flame
- ▶ Swedish Flame

Standard Membership Benefits Package

Whether they join independently as individual members or collectively under an organisational umbrella, all IFRF members have online access to:

- The IFRF Exchange, a completely private and secure email system linking IFRF members worldwide;
- A library of presentations accumulated over a generation of conferences, Topic Oriented Technical Meetings and workshops;
- The European Facilities database, a guide to the combustion and biofuels test rigs of some 50 European industrial and research organisations;
- The IFRF Handbook, a library of 200 combustion files on a variety of topics;
- Industrial Combustion, a peer-reviewed journal which publishes the best research on the practical and theoretical aspects of combustion science as applied to industry;
- Monday Night Mail, a fortnightly round up of IFRF and international combustion news.

IFRF members also enjoy preferential rates at all IFRF events including conferences, courses and workshops.

Individuals who join collectively under an organisational umbrella enjoy additional benefits which are not available to independent individuals. See the table overleaf for full information.

IFRF MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS SUMMARY TABLE

Benefits		Individual Member (Single membership)	Organisational Member (Group membership)
		Annual Fee* Professional: € 150 Student/retiree: € 75 Undergrad no charge	Annual Fee* Large Industrial Company: € 2200 Small/Medium Enterprise: € 1100 Academic Institute: € 550
Standard Membership Package	Online access to the IFRF Community via the Members' Exchange facility	Yes, with password	Yes, with password
	Online access to presentations from IFRF conferences, TOTeMs and workshops	Yes, with password	Yes, with password
	Online access to European Facilities database	Yes	Yes
	Online access to IFRF Handbook	Yes, with password	Yes, with password
	Online access to the peer-reviewed IFRF journal Industrial Combustion	Yes	Yes
	Free subscription to fortnightly newsletter Monday Night Mail	Yes	Yes
	Preferential rates at all IFRF technical events, conferences, courses	Yes	Yes
Organisational Members Only	Online access to technical reports describing current IFRF research	No	Yes, with password
	Research reports from the IFRF archive	No	5 free reports per year (Further reports charged at member rates)
	Online access to the IFRF Solid Fuel database	No	Yes, with password
	Observer status at IFRF experimental facilities during campaigns	No	Yes
	Preferential rates for private research projects	No	Yes
	Preferential price for manufacture of measurement instrumentation	No	25% discount
	Free exhibition opportunities at IFRF conferences and other events	No	Yes
	Free promotional opportunities in MNM and on the IFRF website	No	Yes

IFRF reserves the right to consider each application for membership on its own merit.

For further information about Membership or to locate your nearest IFRF National Committee, write to us at info@ifrf.net or consult the IFRF website.

*Fees quoted are those charged directly by IFRF and will vary between National Committees in different regions.

 To qualify as an SME, an organisation should meet the EU definition of small and medium enterprises as described at <http://ec.europa.eu/enterprise/policies/sme/facts-figures-analysis/sme-definition>